

FAKE ARREST — Fr. Philip Berrigan (left) portrayed a policeman making an arrest in a "guerilla theater" news conference in front of the White House yesterday.

Protest Outside White House Leads To Arrest Of Four Men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a mock antiwar protest, four "newsmen" who asked tough questions of "President Nixon" were arrested by "policemen" who playfully tied their hands in front of the White House.

Then the real U.S. Park Police showed up and the four were really arrested.

The demonstration was one in a weekend of protest on the first anniversary of the signing of Vietnam peace accords which included a "drive-in" by about 200 relatives and friends of servicemen still listed as missing in Southeast Asia and an "ignoble peace prize" presented to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger by actress Jane Fonda.

The American Friends Service Committee said yesterday that 56,755 Vietnamese have been killed in the year since the cease-fire began and charged the United States with fostering major violations.

Two followers of the Rev. Phillip Berrigan dressed as the President and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu held yesterday's mock news conference. Some participants asked critical questions and phony police backed the men up to the White House fence and tied their hands.

At that moment the Park Police arrived and asked for the group's demonstration permit. A member said they didn't have one. The rope was replaced by handcuffs and the four men were hustled away in a police van, charged with unlawful assembly and demonstrating without a permit.

They were identified as Dr. Charles L. Radol, 57, Colorado Springs, Colo.; the Rev. Edward J. Murphy, 36, New York City; Sal Sacafidi, 21, Jersey City, N.J., and Lee Kohns, 38, Weehawken, N.J.

During the arrests, two vans and two campers circled the White House.

The campers were driven by a POW-MIA group who say they have been trying to see Nixon since July.

Simon May Be Treasury Secretary, Energy Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Simon may be appointed treasury secretary and stay on as head of the Federal Energy Office, according to administration sources.

The sources said yesterday that the current secretary, George P. Shultz, wants to resign "sometime next spring" and Simon, who still holds the title of his deputy, wants the job.

"Shultz wants Simon to be the next treasury secretary and Simon loves the Treasury, but he thinks the FEO still needs a tough director, especially with the crucial decision on gas rationing still to come," one source said.

The sources said President Nixon has considered allowing Simon to hold both posts, because the energy chief feels it would "only confuse the nation if it is given a new energy czar just as the Federal Energy Office is getting off the ground." Simon replaced John Love late last year.

The decision will probably be postponed until spring, the sources said.

Israelis Give Up Suez Canal Bank

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Cheering Israeli soldiers handed over their control of one-third of the west bank of the Suez Canal today to United Nations forces, lifting the siege of Suez City and freeing the encircled Egyptian 3rd Army in the Sinai.

A force of 600 U.N. troops in blue helmets and armed only with black Finnish Valmet automatic rifles immediately moved into the vacated positions. Egyptian forces were to take over at noon.

UPI Correspondent Richard C. Gross reported from Suez City that wisps of black smoke curled into the blue sky from dozens of locations as the Israelis burned what they could not take with them. The withdrawing Israelis previously blew up Egyptian missile sites.

Military sources in Tel Aviv said the Israeli withdrawal would be followed later in the day by a thinning out of Egyptian forces along the East Bank of the 102-mile-long waterway.

Walkouts Cut British Rail Transportation

LONDON (UPI) — Wildcat walkouts by train crews today disrupted Britain's state-run rail system, plunging London's busy commuter network into chaos and axing long distance services through the country.

Tens of thousands of commuters were forced to hitch rides, struggle for places on overcrowded buses or simply stay home.

People who normally use our suburban services should find alternative means to travel, the British Railways Board said.

Britain yesterday was without any trains at all for the seventh successive week because of a slowdown by 29,000 locomotive engineers.

Suharto Shakes Up Assistants

JAKARTA (UPI) — President Suharto took command of the National Security Agency today and disbanded his controversial team of personal assistants in further attempts at ending student discontent that led to this month's rioting.

The presidential action removed Gen. Sumitro from his position as commander of the agency, known as Kopkamtib, but did not affect his position as deputy commander of the armed forces.

A presidential announcement also said Suharto had decided to dismiss his team of personal assistants "because the institution of personal assistant to the president is considered no longer necessary under the present situation."

Eleven persons have been killed, more than 600 cars destroyed, scores of shops attacked, 775 persons arrested on inciting-to-riot charges and 10 newspapers and periodicals have since been shut down for "provocative reporting."

Photo Record

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 3 astronauts, every man working overtime going into the final two weeks of their flight, made the longest single earth photography pass of any of the space station crews yesterday.

Crewmen Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue aimed their earth cameras at the ground twice, gathering data on geology, topography, the weather and the oceans. They were making a similar run with the cameras today.

Flight officials said they expected an unexpectedly high amount of thrusting gas that helps keep the spaceship steady in orbit, after the lab drifted almost 40 degrees out of attitude, or position relative to the ground.

Five persons were reported killed today and 28 wounded, bringing the overall casualty toll to 89 killed and 220 wounded, and making the attack the worst the capital has undergone in four years of war.

Neither the White House nor the Treasury would comment. Ian Paisley said in a sermon to his congregation last night that the IRA had offered to release Nedermayer had he been murdered by the Irish Republican Army.

Islands Ringed

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese warships have surrounded the Paracel Islands, which were lost to China last week during a sporadic battle, but there were no reports of further clashes with the Chinese, military sources said today.

The sources said the Saigon military command had ordered a substantial number of the country's naval forces to steam to the archipelago lost to China more than a week ago.

HERE'S

IF YOU'RE LOADING UP ON LECITHIN

We're setting aside our series on vitamin A to bring up a timely suggestion: People taking extra amounts of lecithin should make certain of getting enough calcium, too, say nutrition authorities. A new diet which seems to be sweeping the country, advocates wholesome supplements such as lecithin and kelp. But dieters aren't advised, evidently, that the high amount of phosphorus provided by the lecithin should be balanced by calcium.

As Linda Clark explains it in her book KNOW YOUR NUTRITION, "When phosphorus is excreted from the body, it takes calcium with it; so if the phosphorus content is high and calcium is not raised to balance it a calcium deficiency can result." Leg cramps are one sign of such a deficiency. (Next week, more on A)

Slayers Sought

DALLAS (UPI) — Police Chief Donald Byrd sent 100 plain clothes officers on a block-by-block search of the nation's eighth largest city this weekend under orders to have the persons responsible for the killings of local grocers in jail by today.

Three persons were questioned yesterday but homicide detective Sgt. Frank Mote said they did not look like strong suspects.

Minutes after Friday's ninth shooting in an area grocery, Byrd assembled all available uniform and plainclothes commanders in his office and ordered them to have the men responsible "in jail by Monday morning." Six of the victims have died.

Forrest Vance Fuller, 45, the ninth person shot in the wave of drive-in grocery store killings, remained in critical condition today.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Early federal tax returns show that only 10.7 per cent of taxpayers are earmarking $1 for presidential candidates in the 1976 election.

Internal Revenue Service figures compiled from the first 403,000 forms showed that one taxpayer in 10 marked the box on their form authorizing $1 of their taxes for the campaign.

This is more than triple last year's markoff when only 3.1 per cent checked the box but likely to disappoint advocates of election campaign reform.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Communist rebel gunners bombed Phnom Penh for the fourth consecutive day today, hitting the capital, a refugee camp and an area near Pocheong Airport with artillery, rockets and recoilless rifle fire.

Five persons were reported killed today and 28 wounded, bringing the overall casualty toll to 89 killed and 220 wounded, and making the attack the worst the capital has undergone in four years of war.

Prime Minister Long Boret sent government troops in search of the Communist artillery sites and urged Phnom Penh's residents not to leave their homes.

Seeds Of Change Are Planted

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 18th of 20 essays by leading men in the world's academic community. The writer of this essay is chairman of the Department of Biology of the California Institute of Technology. Herein he discusses biology as it applies to the future of man.)

By ROBERT SINHEIMER
Distributed by Copley News Service

The man of today lives in a very different physical environment than did the man of three centuries past. He is immersed in the products and conveniences of technology — a technology derived from a profound understanding of the nature and organization of inanimate matter, and intended to adapt the forces and substances of Nature to man's purposes.

But the animate world about man, the world of life, is yet in essence much the same as it was when modern man first appeared. Man himself is very much the same biologically as his remote ancestors some tens of millennia ago. The plants and birds and animals are, with a few gains and losses, and a few domesticated species, those that were then present.

Man has increased mightily in numbers since he selected a few grains and adapted them for cultivation — he has defoliated some areas, eliminated some predators and converted large portions of the earth's surface to a few crops. But a time-misplaced aborigine could today easily recognize the ant and the sparrow and the wheat and his fellows — although scarcely the television, the refrigerator, the jet plane or the skyscraper.

But here too the seeds of change are already planted.

In laboratories and institutes around the world, biologists are probing the most complex nature and organization of living matter. They have already discovered and clarified many of the "secrets" of life. They understand the origin of the "animate" of animate matter, the self-contained organization of the cell and the remarkable phenomena of inheritance; they can trace in increasing detail the changes in molecular pattern that underlie the long evolution of life from its astonishing beginning until today. They begin even to envision the principles of brain organization that underlie perception and thought and willed action. And out of this knowledge, one can see emergent the outlines of a possible whole new technology intended to adapt animate matter to man's purposes, if we so wish; and that, in ultimate paradox, includes man himself.

DR. ROBERT SINHEIMER

Biochemical and physiological and genetic understanding have already led to the discovery of many substances to improve man's health: antibiotics for microbial disease, hormones for metabolic defects, special diets for some genetic "errors of metabolism," palliative drugs for psychic trauma. The advance of biochemical technology will soon bring man-invented proteins, hormones, genes or viruses to permit the modification of life processes with a power and precision previously unknown.

Complex new miniature instruments born in the electronic laboratories of the space age and adapted to the needs of the body give promise of remarkable prosthetic devices — ultimately of new organs for sound or sight, of artificial hearts, of diagnostic monitors for physiological states.

Man-spawned organisms such as never before existed are already found in laboratories dotted about the earth: an animal virus with genes acquired from a bacterium; a plant cell with chloroplasts of another species; dozens of "identical twin" salamanders with no natural parents; mice whose cells bear the genes from four parents.

Today these are curious experiments. Tomorrow they may be the source of therapies for genetic disease, of valuable new crops, of extraordinary feed animals — and of remarkable humans?

Capsules are already to be found in the pharmacies of the earth to alter our states of mind — to elate, to depress, to calm, to stir, to summon sleep, to dull pain, to enhance color and tone, to distort perception (and thereby to form novel visions of unreal worlds within).

Today these are, for the most fitful, means to cope with stress, to escape bleak reality, to sample other moods, and to dream of other universes. Tomorrow these might become a way of life, a means to program mental states for learning, for creativity, for amusement, for serenity — or for passion or struggle.

New technologies bring new powers and new powers bring new responsibilities. Whenever man intervenes to displace the balance that nature has provided, then he must restore a balance by conscious design. How much shall we wish to change the natural order — to adapt the animate world to human purpose? What is our responsibility for all the forms of life on earth? What principles should guide the physical or chemical modification of man.

It would seem most probable that we will choose, at the least, to intervene in the animate matter of humanity in order to continue to relieve "the ills that flesh is heir to" — to prevent or to minimize the ravages and anguish of genetic and metabolic disease, of infection, of hormonal imbalance or deficit, of cancer, of psychic disorder and manic depression or of schizophrenia, et al.

And the procedures we will need to develop to effect such goals will clearly bear the seeds of yet further interventions. As we learn to reduce disease and repair metabolism we may also learn to slow aging and markedly extend the human life-span — if we wish. As we learn to correct genetic disease we may also learn to modify the genetic character of man in varying directions — if we wish. As we learn to reorder the biochemistry underlying mental illness we may also learn the means to vary the dimensions of thought — if we wish.

How much shall we wish to change the natural state of man and how shall the cost of such modification be borne? How much resource shall we devote to the extension of a life, to the close.

Melvin Laird Is Target Of Tomato, Egg Barrage

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A few protesters threw tomatoes and eggs at Melvin R. Laird yesterday just before Vice President Gerald Ford spoke at a dinner honoring the former secretary of defense.

None of the tomatoes or eggs hit Laird, and Ford, who was inside, was apparently unaware of the incident when it occurred. But several of the vice president's security guards were struck.

Police arrested one person in the incident outside Alumni Hall at Providence College, where Ford spoke at a dinner honoring Laird's efforts in the field of mental retardation.

About 1,000 persons attended the dinner, including former Republican Gov. John Chafee and Democratic Sens. John Pastore and Claiborne Pell.

A Ford spokesman said the vice president declined to speak with newsmen on topical questions because of the nature of his appearance.

In his address Ford said Laird, currently President Nixon's domestic advisor, will be missed when he quits his White House post.

in their understanding of these principles and in their acceptance of change. Indeed, we seldom directly confront the foundations of our society, for they are so imbedded in our culture that to do so challenges our very sense of place and reality. But consideration of the new questions will brook no delay or events will create their own answers.

In a democratic society there should be the most extensive discussion of these basic issues, for the nature of the democracy will depend upon the answers.

Until now the only means available to change the character of men have been education and communication, in its varied forms. The basic purposes of education and communication have been, in general, evident to those concerned; it has been an objective of our society to make the means of education and communication available to all. How much the fundamental character of man has been changed by these means is debatable. The chemical means now envisioned for the modification of man may be much more powerful — and thus some fear more irreversible — and certainly more difficult to comprehend.

What would be the social consequence of a simple means for preselection of the sex of children — not only with respect to the over-all balance of men and women, but with regard to more subtle effects in the birth order of children within families?

What would be the social consequence of the development of means for the exact genetic reproduction, manyfold, of a particular individual to produce not identical twins but identical 10-tuplets or 20-tuplets or 100-tuplets? What would be the consequences of the selection of specific individuals for such multiple replication, presumably for a specific social purpose?

More broadly, if and when men acquire the ability to alter the human inheritance in specific directions, what directions should be chosen — and who will choose? What happens in a society if the chance elements of heredity are replaced by human design?

What happens in a society if the range of human diversity is narrowed — if all have a high IQ or mechanical aptitude or absolute pitch or athletic coordination?

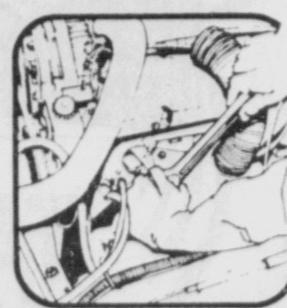

The answers to these questions are not to be found in our existent mores, for these are novel problems. The answers will have to be found, and then the choices made, from reflection upon the very deepest principles underlying our perception of man, his future and his relation to other men and to the universe about him. Men differ

Public Still Denied It's Right To Know

When Edward Cave published reports of British House of Commons debates in his Gentleman's Magazine in 1738, he was threatened with punishment "of utmost severity" for violating a centuries-old prohibition against telling the public what went on in the making of its laws.

Thirty-three years later, in 1771, printers of the London Morning Chronicle and Evening Post were arrested for publishing House of Commons debates.

By the time the American colonists revolted against the British crown, London newspapers were more-or-less regularly reporting on Parliament without punishment. But when the Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia, its members agreed at the outset to meet behind closed doors, lest reports of their disagreements prejudice the public against the constitution they hoped to produce.

Freedom of information has come a long way since then. Or has it?

MORE AND MORE, the business of lawmaking bodies is done in committee. At state and federal levels, many of the committee meetings are closed to the public. At the local level, efforts to close them are never-ceasing.

A great deal of the tax money forced from the people is spent without their having any chance to protest. It is bargained away to employee unions behind closed doors. It is appropriated in lump sums to myriad agencies whose decisions on its spending are not subject to public scrutiny. And these agencies not only spend the taxpayers' money but set up their own regulations which have the effect of law — all without public participation or knowledge.

The average taxpayer does not even know of the existence of many of the agencies that freely spend the money he is forced to pay. Sometimes, even the elected lawmakers themselves don't know of them.

SUCH A CASE came to light with publication last October of the report of a Senate committee set up to inquire into operations of federal intelligence agencies. It called for more public information on the Central Intelligence Agency, Defense Intelligence Agency, National Security Agency, and National Reconnaissance Agency.

But only when the report appeared did senators — including some of those on the committee — learn of the existence of the last of these, the National Reconnaissance Office. California's Sen. Alan Cranston was one of the committee members who said he'd never heard of it before. Even its name and initials were supposed to be secret.

It has since developed that NRO spends about $1 billion a year for secret high-altitude flights to spy on other countries.

Whether what it learns is worth $1 billion a year, nobody knows. Whether the flights are good policy has never been debated. Whether the whole operation is needless, with satellites constantly doing more publicized spying, nobody can guess.

Freedom of information does not extend to such agencies as the (hush!) National Reconnaissance Office.

Has freedom of information really come very far since 1738?

We're Learning To Cope

Man has one quality, besides intelligence, which enables him to cope. It is his great adaptability.

Marinites are rediscovering the pleasures of walking. We are learning the intimate joy of having only one or two lights on at a time. We are becoming so rugged we can survive without an electric blanket. We read more and watch television less — and are better for it. We are teaching ourselves what we already instinctively knew — happiness does not depend on gadgets; rather, it is a flame that burns within.

PAUL E. PETERZELL

Senator Behr May Represent Some Unloving Constituents

Relief is alive and well in the camp of Sen. Peter H. Behr over the decision by Sen. Randolph Collier not to run against him.

Behr appeared convinced he could defeat the dean of the Senate, but was not looking forward to the enormous effort and expense of such a battle. Behr's staff must have had some of the same feeling, because they admitted their relief was tinged with disappointment. It would have been a dandy race for the spectators.

A dark hint of the sort of feelings it would have aroused was evident in a recent letter Behr's staff got from J. D. O'Dell, president and editor of the Humboldt Beacon and Fortuna Advance, which bills itself "an independent newspaper."

The letter in its entirety: "This newspaper does not care for Senator Peter Behr and does not wish any material from his office in any form, except for a possible obituary and that should be brief."

Napa State Hospital Provides Ray Of Light

As a concerned citizen in a country (and world) where much of our news every day is discouraging, I feel we could all use a ray of sunshine.

If we look at a place in Sonoma County called Napa State Hospital, we find that, no matter what clouds there are, the sun will continue to shine on that one spot, due to the dedication of a small group of men and women. In the space of one year, the changes that have been, and are, taking place, should be brought to the attention of the public. Working together as one unit, with never failing interest and patience, these people treat their patients as complete individuals, each with his and her own particular problems. The funds are small and personnel limited, nevertheless, they do accomplish so much that they deserve some of the publicity given to efforts for the retarded.

There has been much adverse publicity given to us regarding our mentally ill citizens, now we need to look at the hope given us by at least one group among us. FRANCES M. ROE

Walter Zurcher Was Part Of A Team

The editorial tribute that you wrote about my late husband, Walt Zurcher, was deeply appreciated by our family. Walt was modest and did not want acclaim. I am very proud that you honored him in this way.

His death came so unexpectedly, while he was still active, enthusiastic and energetic. I have been deeply touched by the continuing flow of communication by many who share our shock and grief.

San Rafael is blessed with many strong civic leaders. Walt felt honored to have worked side by side through the years with Irving Chapman, Rex Silvernale, Carroll Walker, Scott Straithairn, Bill Murray and Charles Griffin. I believe he was a link in a chain of involvement for serving and strengthening our community. Walt's heart stopped, but I don't think his influence will die. He was one of a team. Time For Parents To Assert Their Rights

Referring to Bryce Anderson's column questioning compulsory school attendance beyond age 14, I would like to add these thoughts:

The time is long past due in this age of everyone's rights for parents to rise up and demand that the state return their right to control their children's education.

At one time, experimental schools were connected solely with teachers' colleges and universities. Parents who chose to send their children to these schools did so with full knowledge that their children were to be experimented with.

Based upon the experience one receives in the raising and educating of five children, I have formed the opinion that our entire public education system has been reduced to the same type of experimental laboratory mentioned above.

Parents are forced by law to submit their children as guinea pigs to these experimental laboratories. And yet these same parents are held responsible for their children, morally to God and legally to the state.

I propose that it is time for parents to rise up and abolish compulsory attendance.

COINCIDENCE DIVISION: Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, had breakfast last week in a private room at a San Francisco hotel. Marks, chairman of the Select Committee on Maritime Industry, had scheduled the session weeks before with about 20 maritime labor leaders.

A commotion in the next room caught Marks's attention as his meeting ended, so the senator took a look. It turned out to be the press conference at which Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the Fifth Congressional District.

The coincidence is that Burton's toughest hurdle may turn out to be Marks. The senator is expected to decide by mid-February whether to seek the congressional seat or run for mayor of San Francisco.

Troops Leave Moral Problem In Vietnam

The tragedy of the Vietnam War is not only the suffering of its people, the loss of their homes, the utter devastation. They have inherited a great moral problem.

Through the help of our troops, these brave people now have many orphans, filled with unfortunate children that our American servicemen left behind.

There are four orphanages in Saigon alone — filled with abandoned children, who exist on starvation diets. Four cents per day is allowed each child by the South Vietnamese government.

One of the special problems is the care and placement of children sired by American Negro troops. They are discriminated against at home, school, and in the orphanages. They are called black Americans.

The Catholic Relief Services and the United States Catholic groups are trying to help these unfortunate children to find homes in the United States by adoption.

Even though the black American children are discriminated against by the Vietnamese, they are making it very difficult for American families to adopt these children, by setting up all kinds of requirements and expenses. The estimated cost to adopt these babies is $1,000. One wonders why.

Seek Drake Artifacts Farther To North

Cabrillo-Ferrello admit sighting snow in the mountains from their sea-level and sea-borne galleon. This could only be Mt. Shasta or the Siskiyou Range. As for anchoring in 45 fathoms, 270 feet of chain paid out, this could have been in the rough surf before the bars of the Rogue River or the Eel River. However, being of 200-ton displacement should not have been too great a hazard to run the bars. Sighting Cape Blanco and Cape Mendocino should have encouraged their entry into the harbor of Arcata or Eureka. And, then, have laid claim to all of lands easterly thereof to the Atlantic Ocean for Charles I of Spain, Holy Roman Emperor.

More re Drake:

The only place that archeologists will find evidence of Francis Drake's landing in California should be in the burial mounds of the Mattole Indian tribelet in vicinity of Cape Mendocino. They should find Peruvian gold amulets as payment for water, venison and corn.

Captain Drake was aware of Cabrillo-Ferrello having landed there 40 years before on this coast, thereby making legitimate the Spanish crown's ownership claim. Spanish records show Drake leaving from Cape Mendocino to make the 78-day voyage across the Pacific overburdening his 200,000-pound vessel with another 60,000 pounds of gold in addition.

I am inclined to believe that archeologists should seek northward for recordings of Drake's claim of New Albion, why would he execute illegitimately the documents for his queen?

His friend at the English court was Sir Walter Raleigh, the great public relations officer of England under Elizabeth I, Regina.

Even Raleigh's claim to have visited "El Dorado," walled city of gold, in upper Brazil was proven fraudulent. He was victim to mal-de-mer off the Orinoco River of Venezuela, in harbor, and hired a Portuguese capitano to do his exploring for him! The latter got as far as "the Rapids" never crossed the "Cataract" nor did he enter after a 180-mile portage, "El Dorado."

Durable Peace In Middle East Depends On Many Compromises

What slows Mideast peace? Secy. of State Henry A. Kissinger accomplished a feat of skill and patience in bringing about the disengagement of Arab and Israeli forces. But the absence of war — however great a blessing — does not mean the presence of peace.

Hard negotiations lie ahead. How can we turn a full-scale truce into a full-scale settlement? To produce a durable peace: Egypt will have to be satisfied to get back something less than all the territory she lost.

Israel will have to be satisfied with frontiers less defensible than she wants. Egypt will have to recognize the sovereignty of the state of Israel.

Israel will have to accept some degree of international control of the religious centers of Jerusalem.

Both sides will have to believe that neither can get what it wants by war.

HOW SOVIET VIEWS MIDEAST EVENTS. The Kremlin is not happy about what is happening. It sees its own standing impaired in the Arab countries. It sees U.S. prestige as peacemaker enhanced.

Credit goes to the U.S. diplomatic team for shaping the military pullback. Henry A. Kissinger is the only statesman who can talk freely with both sides and is trusted by both.

IS POMPIDOU GOVERNMENT ON THE WAY OUT? It is beginning to look that way. Prime Minister Georges Pompidou of France is not well, and it now seems likely that he will call an election before his term expires, and not run himself.

There will be at least five presidential candidates in the race and the present outlook suggests a swing to the left.

1974, Los Angeles Times.

CONGRESS AND GUN CONTROL. Another attempt will probably be made at this session to pass federal registration of handguns. But its sponsors are still no match for the powerful lobby of the National Rifle Association.

Gallup reports that in eight polls between 1956 and 1972 public support for a law requiring permits to buy handguns has never dropped below 68 per cent.

Organized minority sentiment usually wins out over unorganized majority opinion.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS A DISASTER AREA." That is the blunt judgment of Pierre Salinger, former press secretary of President Kennedy and an aide to Senator McGovern in his '72 campaign.

He points out one often overlooked fact: that only once in the past 30 years — that being the exceptional election of Lyndon Johnson after J.F.K.'s assassination — has the Democratic presidential nominee won a majority vote. The Democrats lost the presidency three times and when they won, as with Truman and Kennedy, it was with less than 50 percent of the total vote.

ORGANIZED MINORITY SENTIMENT USUALLY WINS OUT OVER UNORGANIZED MAJORITY OPINION.

THE CONGRESSMEN who went back to their districts to sample opinion during the recess found that a lot of voters did not care a damn what happened to Mr. Nixon, and a lot of others did — but virtually all of them were furious about the fuel situation, and most of those blamed the oil companies for their troubles.

It was not a fantastic idea. Between the christening of the energy crisis and the great postholiday disillusionment, we learned that the sum of oil industry officials' and stockholders' contributions to the 1972 Nixon campaign had come to roughly $5.7 million. We learned that while the seven biggest oil companies' worldwide sales had gone up some 6 percent from 1972 to 1973, their profits had gone up an average of about 43 percent for the same period.

We heard the White House suggest a windfall profits tax on oil income, then heard Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., blame the White House for the holdup of the pre-Christmas energy legislation package by quietly opposing an excess profits provision as written.

Just since mid-January, we have heard: (1) Russell Train, the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, espouse an excess profits tax, with its proceeds going into a mass transit trust fund; (2) William Simon, the energy czar, warning Congress not to react to the "emotionally charged atmosphere" by passing the excess profits tax as reported by conference committee; (3) Mr. Nixon, in his latest energy message, again blessing the general idea of a windfall profits tax but classifying it as "extraneous" to the special energy package.

THAT IS STRONG leadership, 1974. Train wants heavy emphasis on cutting energy demands. Simon concentrates on short-term supply of the same old polluting fossil fuels. The president reflexively acknowledges public outrage against the industry, but proposes nothing that will hurt.

Meanwhile, the taxpayers do not know whom to believe, so they believe nobody. They get in their cars, wait in line to have their pockets picked at the gasoline stations, then take their revenge on the abstract situation by floorboarding the accelerator as if it were 1955 again.

1974, Baltimore Sun.

REMEMBER WHEN?

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ERIK INGRAM

Arrigoni May Enter Race For County Clerk Position

If Marin County Elections Officer Peter Meyer hasn't heard the rumor yet, he can start turning light green right now: Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni may run for county clerk.

Arrigoni has confirmed that he is "seriously considering" a shot at the job, for which Meyer is so far the only announced candidate.

Meyer announced last week just days after County Clerk George H. Gross said he plans to retire this year and will not seek re-election.

Meyer's quick jump into the election appeared to be a smart move aimed at consolidating support and making other likely candidates think twice before announcing.

But he apparently hadn't heard of Arrigoni's long-rumored interest in becoming an elected department head and giving up his job as a stock broker.

Arrigoni had been thinking of running in 1978 when both County Recorder Noel T. Giacomini and Gross were expected to retire. Gross's unexpected announcement last week caused a change in his timetable.

AS IT STANDS, Arrigoni is in the middle of his second term on the board of supervisors and can lose nothing but his filing fee should he decide to run. The county clerk job pays $26,904 per year, compared to supervisor's salary of $18,800.

His position on the board is protected, though he would have to resign by next January if he were to win.

A race between the two would be enlivened by Arrigoni's political foe, Marin Alternative, backer of Barbara Boxer in her 1972 campaign for Arrigoni's supervisorial seat.

Meyer is supposedly "in tight" with the active group but is relatively unknown compared to Arrigoni.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE candidate is Asst. County Clerk John Musser. If he runs, it will be out of self-preservation, since he and Meyer are as friendly toward each other as sharks toward raw meat. Should one win, it would be almost instant unemployment for the other.

As assistant, Musser serves at the pleasure of the county clerk. Meyer's position is protected by civil service rules but it would be no trick to legally reorganize him out of the job.

ELSEWHERE AROUND Civic Center, it appears Supervisor Arnold Baptiste might be sharpening a stiletto for Bella Aaron, head of the county's criminal justice planning agency.

Baptiste proposed last week a "law and justice agency" be created to coordinate and improve administrative interaction among departments in the criminal justice system.

Some, including Mrs. Aaron, see the proposal as an attempt to gut her department.

Mrs. Aaron and Baptiste often do not see eye to eye.

Growing Nuclear Arsenal Would Make A Big Bang

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. nuclear arsenal now has the equivalent of over 5 billion tons of TNT and is still growing, according to Senate testimony.

The figure was disclosed in an exchange between Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Carl Walske, a former Pentagon assistant, during a classified hearing last May 22. A censored transcript of the testimony was released Saturday by Symington.

Symington asked Walske, who has since resigned, to verify reports of the 5 billion ton figure, and Walske replied, "Yes, sir, the numbers are essentially correct."

Pentagon spokesmen refused to confirm or deny the accuracy of Walske's statement.

Other points that emerged from the testimony:

A total of 3,647 among the 119,492 military and civilian workers who had access to nuclear weapons in 1972 were disqualified because of drug, drinking or other emotional problems.

Despite strict security measures applied to Americans, local residents near U.S. installations in Europe, Asia and elsewhere often can see atomic weapons being handled and loaded on rockets and planes because of poor security.

Although the United States had developed "permissive action locks" (PAL) locks to prevent bombs from being fired without authority, they have not been installed on many weapons because of expense. Pentagon officials testified, however, the cost is only about $30,000 per weapon.

In some parts of Europe, nuclear weapons are stored so close to the Iron Curtain there is a danger they could be overrun in a surprise attack.

Californians Handled Threat Of Blackouts

i-j Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Californiaans face mandatory "brown-outs" and "rolling blackouts" under voluntary compliance with the state's mandatory 15 per cent cutback in electric power use, the state's emergency services director has announced.

In a memorandum to all county and city emergency services chiefs and other officials, Herbert R. Temple Jr. warned government agencies to prepare for the worst.

He suggested that emergency generators be installed for communications, hospitals and other essential services that could be hampered when normal commercial electrical power sources have to cut back on users to fuel shortages.

On Jan. 3, the California Public Utilities Commission imposed mandatory restrictions on some electricity uses including lighting, cooling and heating of commercial and industrial buildings and outdoor public events.

At the same time, the commission said the state's utilities have fuel to meet only 85 per cent of the energy needs for 1974. If voluntary electrical use reduction plus the mandatory cutbacks do not save the shortage, the utility commission, may tell the utility firms to begin brownouts and rolling blackouts.

"Brownouts could be achieved through specific restrictions" on major electricity users and homes, Temple explained. The brownout technique also may include deliberately dropping supply voltage or even current frequency.

"Rolling blackouts are extreme measures," Temple said. It would involve each utility company dividing its service area into zones, each of which uses an equal amount of power. The zones will time-share the blackout, thus each getting an equal share of the power available.

Temple advised government agencies and other large users to obtain a pamphlet on blackout preparedness from the federal Defense Civil Preparedness Agency. The pamphlet, "Plan Ahead for Power Supply Problems," warns that brownouts can burn out electrical motors, confuse computers and reduce lighting, unless steps are taken to protect the equipment.

He suggested that emergency generators be installed for communications, hospitals and other essential services that could be hampered when normal commercial electrical power sources have to cut back on users to fuel shortages.

$13.6 Billion Asked For Veteran Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon recommended to Congress today a $13.6 billion program for veterans benefits in the coming fiscal year that would include an 8 per cent increase for schooling and higher pensions to cover rising living costs.

In a special message, Nixon claimed to have reduced joblessness among Vietnam veterans.

JUDGE DAVID MENARY JR
Seeks election

Reelection Is Sought By Menary

Marin County Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. today announced he will seek election to the seat he has held since appointed by the governor in 1972.

Menary, 46, today also submitted his declaration of intention to file for the seat, a step necessary to qualify for the June 4 primary election ballot.

The judge served on the municipal court bench for almost two years before he was elevated to fill the unexpired term of Thomas F. Keating, who retired. His annual salary is $37,615.

Menary, a lifelong Marin resident, is the son of the late David Menary, Marin County sheriff from 1954 to 1958. He is a graduate of the College of Marin, University of San Francisco and Stanford Law School. He served as a county deputy district attorney from 1954 to 1955, when he went into private practice.

Menary was a member of the San Rafael City Council from 1959 to 1963, when he was elected the city's attorney. He is married to the former Nancy McNear and has three children.

He has been a member and officer of many civic organizations, including the San Rafael Rotary Club, Little League baseball, and Pop Warner football organizations and the Marin County Bar Association.

Rites Held For Martha Bruckner

Private funeral was held today for Martha Bruckner of San Anselmo, longtime German professor, who died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 63.

Dr. Bruckner was born in Krefeld, Germany. She was reared and educated in Germany and earned a doctorate degree in 1938 at the University of Freiburg. Before World War II she moved to Romania with her Romanian-born husband, Josef Bruckner, whom she had met at the university. He was a newspaperman.

Dr. Bruckner and her three children returned to West Germany in 1945 after Bruckner's death and lived there until coming to Marin in 1955.

From 1956 to 1958, Dr. Bruckner was music critic for the Independent-Journal.

Under the GI bill, the allowance for a single veteran in school full time is $200 per month. Nixon advocated that this be boosted by 8 per cent or $17.60 a month.

In a bow to veteran organizations and other groups disturbed by a 1968 law changing the traditional observance of Veterans Day to the fourth Monday in October, Nixon urged new legislation switching the date back to Nov. 11—the anniversary of the end of World War I.

"In view of the confusion which has arisen and is in view especially of the position taken by the veterans themselves, I believe it would be wise to repeat the 1968 change of the Veterans Day observance," Nixon told Congress.

Friedheim said this was the first of the four new missiles to be tested over the full range. The other three, the SS16, SS17, and SS18, have been tested only over land areas of the Soviet Union at short range.

He said the full range test could indicate the Russians are close to deploying the new missile, but it was impossible to know for certain.

"We've estimated their MIRV capability could be deployable by late 1975 or early 1976," Friedheim said. "There has been no basic change in that, but I expect there will be further analysis" of the most recent tests.

Later Friedheim added "we would guess they are well along on their testing programs."

Veterans Administrator Donald W. Johnson said total federal outlays in fiscal 1974 were estimated to be $13.2 billion, meaning the increase for next fiscal year beginning July 1 will be $400 million.

Although educational benefits for individual veterans will increase by 8 per cent, it was estimated that cost will decrease from $3.2 billion in the current year to $2.6 billion next year because of a 200,000 decrease in the number of veterans enrolled in educational programs.

Nixon reported that unemployment for the Vietnam GIs has declined from 11 per cent in 1971 to 4.4 per cent—below the national average.

Retail Clerks Locals Ratify New Contract

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Retail clerk union locals in six bay area counties ratified a new three year contract agreement yesterday, according to a spokesman in San Francisco.

The spokesman said locals in Marin, Alameda, Santa Clara, San Mateo, Contra Costa and San Francisco counties ratified the agreement reached during negotiations last Tuesday with major supermarket chain officials.

The vote in Marin Local 119 was 415 to 19 in favor.

Only local unions in Solano County had not reported their membership vote on the settlement, which affects some 15,000 clerks who work for several major food chains.

The contract called for an 8.7 per cent pay increase over the next three years to $6.24 an hour in 1976.

The committee also will report on a parent survey it plans to make on the year-round school proposal.

Year-Round School On Tap

A Mill Valley School District committee working to set up a year-round school will present a proposed year-round school calendar to district trustees today at 8 p.m. at Homestead School.

Patsy White, secretary to Supt. Peter Palches, said the calendar will have several cycles in which students would attend school for 45 days and then have a 15-day vacation.

The committee also will report on a parent survey it plans to make on the year-round school proposal.

TIBURON PROJECT

The Woman Behind Plant Picturebook

By PAT BALMES

Botanist Phyllis Ellman, who leads spring and summer wildflower walks at Old St. Hilary's Historic Preserve in Tiburon, planned the newly published 14-page color picturebook of its plants and flowers.

"Last year I had about 900 people, ranging from cub scouts to the College of Marin outdoors class which always comes for the grassland walk," said Mrs. George Ellman of Tiburon.

The four-acre preserve, with its serpentine rock, freshwater springs and full sun, supports 210 species of ferns and seed-bearing plants, a tremendous variety for a small area. The black jewel flower and the Tiburon Paint Brush grow nowhere else in the world, according to Mrs. Ellman.

The botanist is a charter and a board member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, formed in 1958 to save the wildflowers, surrounding Tiburon's oldest church building. She also serves on the board of the Marin Conservation League and on the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

Born in Ames, Iowa, Mrs. Ellman began an interest in nature "growing up in a house where, of course, people knew about plants, animals and so on. Both my parents were entomologists. Mother was in research when she was younger and father was in research for the department of agriculture for many years."

MRS. ELLMAN earned a bachelor of science degree in chemistry at Montana State University and a masters in bio-chemistry at Washington State University, where she met and married George Ellman. The newlyweds went to California State Polytechnic University where he worked on his doctorate and she was employed as a research assistant.

Fifteen years ago the Ell-mans moved to Tiburon with their daughter, Judy, a student at the Kansas City Art Institute. Ellman, a bio-chemist, does brain research for the department of psychiatry at University of California at San Francisco.

After retiring, she learned that "you cannot just stay home and look at plants. You keep getting entangled in other things," she said.

Mrs. Ellman has been active for many years in the Girl Scout day camp program, and last summer was in charge of a special group of junior high school girls.

"We did without as much as possible. We had one overnight trip when, instead of having a fireplace, we dug a firepit and baked bread over an open fire in an iron pot. We dyed some yarn using natural dyes to show where dyed things came from and why it is that we have colored clothes," she said.

Her particular interest is the Ring Mountain area, the northern part of Tiburon Peninsula. She is a member of the Ring Mountain advisory committee which studies plans for land use and density.

AT THIS time of year, groups begin calling to arrange walks among the wildflowers. She varies the lengths depending on the group's age and interest. The California Native Plants Society takes four hours; the boy scouts do it in 30 minutes, she said.

Visitors donate to the landmarks society. "Even if it is only a quarter from a scout troop's treasury, I am grateful that they learn to do this," said the conservationist, who added that the scouts sometimes clean up the preserve as a public service.

The preserve's flowers were photographed for the booklet by long-time landmarks society member Anna-Jean Cole of Tiburon, whose photographs appear in the five-volume New York Botanic Garden's "Wild Flowers of the United States." Her photograph of a pelican hangs in the Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park.

When Mrs. Ellman speaks to groups she shows a collection of Mrs. Cole's slides.

LaBess Brash of Belvedere drew on her experience in the publishing field to plan the layout and select type styles and paper for the moss green covered booklet.

Entitled "A Garland for John Thomas Howell," the booklet is dedicated to the curator emeritus of botany at California Academy of Sciences and author of "Marin Flora," who is the society's botanical advisor.

Mrs. Ellman began two years ago to write to Howell's old friends and colleagues for contributions for a book of pictures of flowers and plants taken of the old church site which is named the John Thomas Howell Botanical Garden.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Tell Daughter Her Choice Is Either Shape Up Or Ship Out

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter is very lazy and stubborn. When I say anything to her, she screams back at me. She's out of school, not working.

She curses. Her vocabulary you wouldn't believe!

She leaves her jeans all over the floor, scatters her underclothes and pjs everywhere, won't clean her room, won't help me with the rest of the house.

She drives the family car and leaves it full of cigarette butts and crumbs. She smokes up a storm which drives us nuts.

Instead of telling her boy-friend to call her, she calls him long distance and our phone bills are outrageous.

She has a closetful of lovely clothes which we buy for her, but she only wears pants, torn and faded at that. Her father and I both work so we can provide her with nice things.

She does exactly as she pleases, bosses me around, swears at us, puts down her father (who has given up trying to reach her).

Please tell me what we can do with a spoiled girl. — MISERABLE PARENTS

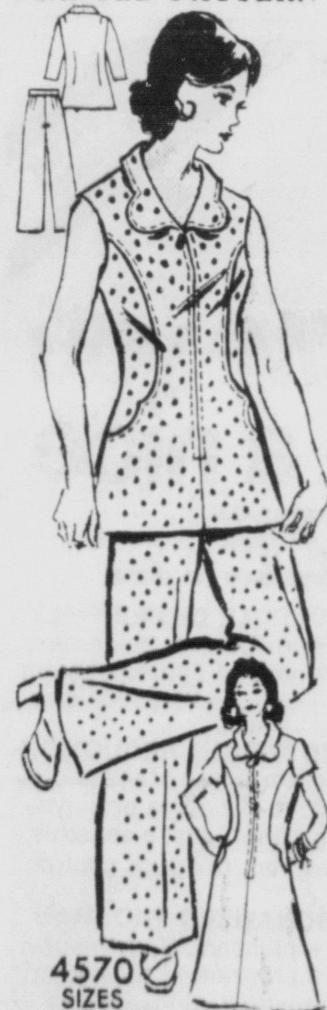

DEAR PARENTS:

You can stop being patsies for a girl who needs one big, solid ultimatum: either get with it or get out!

Your daughter is evidently of age and does not want to continue her education. Therefore, marks society matched them to publish the booklet in time for his 70th birthday." Mrs. Ellman said.

"Tom Howell used to come out to what is now the preserve when he was a student at Berkeley. He has been interested in the plants there most of his 70 years.

"He wrote to Beverly Bastian Meyers, now the landmark society's honorary president, that we have marvelous wildflowers in the area of the empty, deconsecrated church and he hoped we were planned to save some of the land," she said.

Once the preserve was acquired, the society needed to know what was on it. Howell came almost every weekend for a year to identify the flowers and see how they changed, Mrs. Ellman said.

The wildflower booklets are available from Old St. Hilary's Museum in Tiburon and from Charles Durrie of Tiburon, society president.

Mrs. Ellman will speak on wildflowers of Old St. Hilary's garden April 1, final in a series of eight docent lectures on the history of the Tiburon Peninsula, which will begin Feb. 4 at Old St. Hilary's.

Bullets Fly In Protest By Truckers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL
One truck driver was shot, five other trucks were hit by bullets, two truckers were pulled from their rig and beaten and 13 tractor-trailers were damaged late last night and early today in northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Roving bands of striking truckers, protesting rising diesel fuel costs and reduced speed limits, patrolled highways in the two states as the deadline approached for a nationwide trucking shutdown.

Dennis Nickles, 30, Casey, Ill., a tank truck driver, was shot in the shoulder late yesterday on Interstate 80 in Trumbull County, Ohio. The truck was hit twice by gunfire, according to the Warren, Ohio, port of the highway patrol.

Dar Kyle, 34, Altoona, Pa., said his tractor-trailer was shoved from U.S. 22 near Creson, Pa., early today by an automobile with flashing lights. Kyle, who was not injured, said the occupants of the car fired six bullets through the rig's windshield.

Two bakery truck drivers in Warren were pulled from their rig and beaten by five men today, Warren police said. The driver, Thomas W. Reed, 32, Ashtabula, Ohio, was treated and released at a Warren hospital. His coworker, Edward Falconer, 37, Waterford, Pa., was admitted to the hospital.

State police at Washington, Pa., and Beaver Falls, Pa., reported three other incidents of apparent trucker violence as the protest by independent drivers entered its fifth day.

Protestors left the Standard Oil of Ohio (Sohio) bulk plant in Niles, Ohio, today after several hours of picketing, but delivery trucks, idle since last Thursday, were still not rolling.

Truckers in the Niles area appeared to blockade one freight depot for awhile today and then move on to another. Pickets were set up along Ohio 14 at Streetsboro, Ohio, Ravenna, Ohio, and Deerfield, Ohio, today, and trucks were being flagged down and drivers threatened. The pickets caused trucks to become jammed up at about five truck stops in the area.

Hilarita Project May Be Sent Back To 'Go'

The Tiburon City Council will decide whether the proposed Hilarita Housing Project needs to go through the master plan approval process again at 7:30 p.m. today at city hall.

The Tiburon Ecumenical Association has not been able to begin building the 102-unit project because of federal funding delays and a court suit.

THE END OF ANOTHER CRUISE

Chuck Reichert, skipper of the ferry Golden Gate, heads into a slip on the San Francisco waterfront, unloading one more batch of commuters and tourists who have made the

Kissinger And Waldheim Meet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met with U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim this weekend, took in a hockey game and attended a concert by Liza Minelli.

He told Waldheim about the recently agreed-on troop disengagement agreement between Israel and Egypt and said he was "moderately optimistic" a similar agreement could be reached with Syria.

He said he was also hopeful that Syria would join Israel and Egypt at the Middle East peace talks in Geneva, which were adjourned last month.

"We are working on that," Kissinger said. "We're trying to get something started."

Marin Again Loses Money For Defender

State officials have notified Marin that they will be unable to pay an estimated $27,700 this fiscal year for public defender services to the poor.

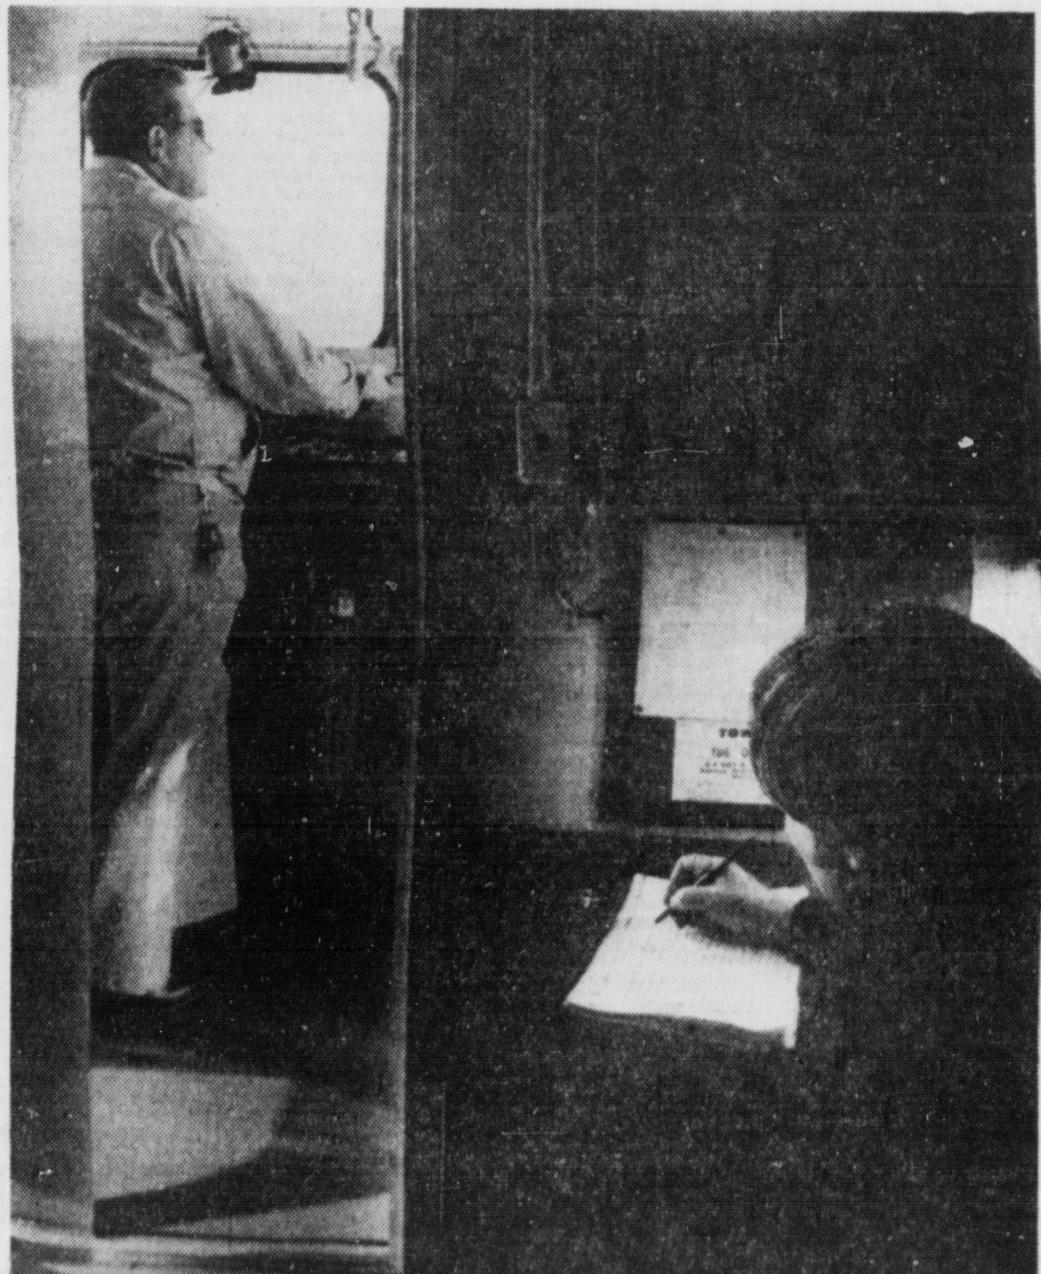

It is the fourth year in a row the state has not met its "legal requirement" to reimburse the county for 10 per cent of the costs of defending indigent persons. County Administrator John F. Barrows said.

"After our adventures with SB 90 and Proposition 1, all committed to keeping the counties and the state on a sound fiscal basis . . . this strikes me as a new low in absurdity," Barrows wrote supervisors.

A. W. Pener of the state Office of Local Assistance told county officials last week there is not enough money to reimburse all 58 counties. The funds ran out prior to the end of the first quarter on Sept. 30, he said. (Gov. Ronald Reagan has predicted a $272 million surplus in this year's budget.)

COOPERATION — Holland checks the radar on the Golden Gate as his partner, Reichert, whose hand shows in the foreground, operates the ferry. It's a two-man job to maneuver the ferry across the bay for its daily trips in fair or foul weather.

CAREFUL — While Reichert (left) gets ready to move the Golden Gate out of her berth in Sausalito, his partner, Holland, records the number of passengers in the log. The Golden Gate, which holds 590 passengers, often has to leave people at the dock during summer runs but usually has extra room during the winter months.

He holds a bachelor's degree in education from Miami University in Ohio and a master's degree from Purdue University. He received his doctorate in biology from Stanford University in 1965.

Brumbaugh replaces Warren B. Martin, who left Sonoma State earlier this month to become vice president of the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, Mo.

The new provost and his family live in Santa Rosa.

Brumbaugh Named Acting Provost At Sonoma State

Joe H. Brumbaugh today was appointed acting provost of arts and sciences at Sonoma State College in Rohnert Park.

A spokesman said Brumbaugh will be chief administrative officer of the largest school on the campus. He will also head the graduate office, the institute of interdisciplinary studies, the college's community involvement project and the liberal studies program.

Both Barrows and Mitchell urged county supervisors to contact local representative in Sacramento "to correct this gross inequity."

College President Thomas

McGrath said Brumbaugh was selected for the post because he is a "strong force in the development of the college's academic program."

Brumbaugh came to Sonoma

State in 1964 as assistant professor of biology. He became a full professor and chairman of the division of natural sciences in 1971.

The new provost and his family live in Santa Rosa.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Paranoid Schizophrenia Most Terrifying Form Of Insanity

Insanity is seen in many forms and degrees, but paranoid schizophrenia can be the most violent and terrifying. Trying to persuade the patient to quiet down is not always the answer because he or she has a mental problem and is living in a world of hallucinations. The victim is suspicious of everyone and may go berserk when he thinks someone is out to do him harm or even kill him. In his dream world, the danger is real and he will go to any lengths to protect himself.

ONE OF THE most terrifying experiences I witnessed involved a rather slightly-built young man who was a paranoid schizophrenic. He was in a private room in a small mental institution. For no apparent reason, he suddenly became a wild man.

He unscrewed the steam escape valve from the radiator and tied it to the cord that had been dangling from the venetian blinds. Swinging it over his head, he proceeded to destroy everything in his path. An orderly who tried to subdue him was levelled by a blow to the jaw. Luckily, a wise old psychiatric nurse on the scene immediately closed and locked the door to his room.

The staff members, including the janitor and cook, were called and all stood in the hall when the door was opened. By this time, the man was howling and covered with blood. When he saw the 'army' coming to get him, he surrendered. After being given a sedative, he quit-ed down. I've often wondered what might have happened had he been one of those 6 foot, 6 inch, 280 pound football linemen.

AT THE OTHER extreme are patients who are profoundly depressed. They also are potential psychiatric emergencies who might break away and attempt suicide. Antidepressant medication and lithium carbonate usually lead to improvement.

Depressive psychosis often begins with insomnia and early awakening. The victims fail to eat, lose weight and, in time, develop extended mood disturbances with self-accusation, slow thinking, feelings of guilt, and the inability to accept responsibility or perform daily tasks. It is at this point that suicidal tendencies may ensue.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Del-len, c/o the Independent Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94901. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

MORNING TEA

S.T. writes: After my morning tea I get diarrhea — have to go four or five times in a row. Is this the tea or nervousness? I'm a very tense person.

REPLY

Stop the tea and see. This might help your nervousness also. See your physician if this is a change in bowel habit.

HIDDEN TONSILS

Mrs. Y. writes: I never had my tonsils removed but they are gone. My mother thinks they might have decayed and fallen out. Is this possible?

REPLY

No, but they might be hidden or retracted because of scars from previous infections.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. Dominic's isn't cheap, but considering the atmosphere, superb food, and the possible savings, we're certainly worth a fifteen minute drive.

Workshop Set On Alcoholism

The Alcohol Information Committee in San Anselmo will hold its second annual community workshop on alcohol abuse May 11 at the College of Marin. Planners for the workshop that will feature speakers from the medical and educational fields and small group sessions on alcohol abuse are Margaret Hoff of Mill Valley, former director of nurses for Marin County; Rae Ellen Mercer of San Rafael, counselor; Lee Simmons of San Anselmo, drug educator; Aileen Kahn of Fairfax, coordinator, Marin office of the National Council on Alcoholism; Beverly Wahler of Mill Valley, and Jeanne Jones of Tiburon.

The Department has been working for several months on a program to put labels on products to show consumers which are the best energy users. Legislation would be needed to gain complete cooperation of industry since the Commerce Department program is voluntary. Nixon said in his energy message last week that he would make such tags mandatory.

The air conditioner tag would be based on government tests of all air conditioners on the market showing, for example, that they range from 5.11 per cent for the least energy efficient unit to 11.5 for the best.

Energy Use Tags Seen For Coolers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Room air conditioners later this year may carry the first energy use labels which President Nixon proposed, according to the Commerce Department.

DUE TO CONSISTENCY

San Diego Open Winner Nichols A Better Golfer

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — His blond hair is getting thinner, lines mark his face near the eyes and his putting isn't as good as he'd like it to be. But Bobby Nichols probably is a better golfer today at 38 than he was 10 years ago when he won the Pacific Golfers Association championship.

He showed how good yesterday when he played consistently while all around him crumbled except Gene Littler, and when it was all over Nichols was the winner by a stroke of the $34,000 top prize and a $5,000 automobile in the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

"Winning feels better as you get older," said Nichols, "but it doesn't come any easier. I don't putt as well as I used to and you could say it is due to nerves, but my all-around play is better."

Nichols closed with a three-under 69 and had a 27-hole score of 13 under par 275. That was good enough for a one-stroke victory over the veteran Littler, who had a finishing 66 on his home course, and Rod Curl, the likeable Wintu Indian from Redding, Calif., who scrambled to a 70. Second place money was worth $15,725 to Littler and Curl.

Nichols thus becomes the only other champion of 1974 besides Johnny Miller, who didn't play in the Williams event after winning the Crosby National Pro-Am and the Phoenix and Tucson Opens on successive weeks to launch the 1974 tour.

This week the pros move on to Honolulu for the Hawaiian Open and Nichols will be there along with Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Miller. Nichols who hadn't planned on playing all the events on the winter schedule, changed his mind in a hurry after winning the Williams.

"I'll play all the others," he said, meaning he'll go to Palm Springs, Calif., for the Desert Classic next week and the Glenn Campbell-Los Angeles open a week later.

Curl, who started the final round here tied for the lead with Nichols, played well on the front nine at Torrey Pines on a summer-like day that attracted 25,000 fans and pushed the week's total to $2,000.

But his game started to come apart on the backside. He took a bogey on the 10th when he made a bad wedge shot and missed a five foot putt, recovered with birds at 13 and 15, but bogied the par-four 17th and missed a six-foot putt on 18 that would have tied him with Nichols and set up sudden death.

Tom Watson and Miller barely tied at 278, two shots behind Nichols, and won $7,480 each, while Ben Crenshaw, who had opened the tournament with a brilliant seven under 65, was alone at 279 and won $6,120.

Billy Casper was next and won $5,440.

Warriors Destroy Cleveland As Barry Decides To Shoot

OAKLAND (UPI) — "Nobody was doing any scoring. I hit a couple and thought I'd better start shooting," Rick Barry explained. "Fortunately they started going in."

Barry was talking about a barren stretch in Saturday night's Golden State Warriors game with the Cleveland Cavs that saw the Warriors blow a halftime lead of 51-42 in one of their patented folds as Cleveland rolled for an 18-3 surge to go ahead 60-54.

But the Warriors seem to have it going now and they showed some gumption by hitting the next 12 points and pulling ahead to stay for a 106-

93 win, their third triumph in a row.

Barry hit 10 of those points and wound up with 37 for a flashy night's work while Jeff Mullins continued his hot gunning with 26. In the last six games, Mullins has got 23 or more points five times.

The Warriors exploded for a 35-20 first quarter margin with Barry and Mullins accounting for the first 21 markers, but Cleveland fought back a bit in the second stanza and took the lead in the third.

"I was tired at the start of the third quarter," Barry admitted. "I was dying. We took a time out after we'd dropped back by six and I needed it."

WORLD TEAM TENNIS MOGUL SAYS

Peace May Be In Offing For Pro Tennis

CHICAGO (UPI) — The International Lawn Tennis Federation has extended the olive branch to the new World Team Tennis (WTT) league and the new league's president says peace may be in the offing.

WTT President Jordan Kaiser said Saturday that the international federation's decision to sanction the WTT if the new league meets certain conditions may signal "the beginning of peace in the tennis world."

Kaiser, who also is co-owner of the WTT Chicago franchise, said the ILTF vote in London clear the way for the WTT to sign foreign players who have been waiting to see whether the WTT would be outlawed.

"Now I think we're in a position where the players know that they will be available under certain conditions and I think we can sign some players now," Kaiser said.

He said most of the league's

Seals Finish Home Stand With 2-2 Tie

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The California Seals may have taken their last home ice flight as the chattel of Charley Finley.

Their 2-2 tie last night with the Minnesota North Stars also may be the last hurrah for coach Fred Glover before the National Hockey League takes over control to the club with the anemic 9-37 record.

Ivan Boldirev went on the ice as a sixth skater after goalie Gilles Meloche was yanked, to score a 30-footer with half a minute left to give the Seals the tie.

The smallest band of spectators of the season, 2,833, looked on as the Seals comeback after trailing twice.

Glover is hesitant to discuss the sale of the Seals to the NHL, but he is not as reticent about his players. Following their 5-0 Friday loss to the Philadelphia Flyers, Glover said, "I think some of them were beaten before they stepped on the ice."

But forward Reggie Leach typified the strained relationship between the coach and the players. "We don't go out there and lose for nothing. But it doesn't matter what Glover thinks. He's crazy. Nobody listens to him."

As forward Gary Croteau says: "Let's just hope things change here soon."

ALI, FRAZIER COLLIDE

Careers On Line Tonight

By STU CAMEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unlike Super Fight I of three years ago, no title will be at stake for Super Fight II tonight when Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier meet in a 12-round rematch...only the boxing careers of the two men who have dominated the sport the last 10 years.

(The closed circuit telecast begins at 6:30 p.m.)

A shot at the heavyweight crown, currently held by George Foreman, awaits the winner.

Oblivion, but hardly on a pauper's scale, beckons the loser.

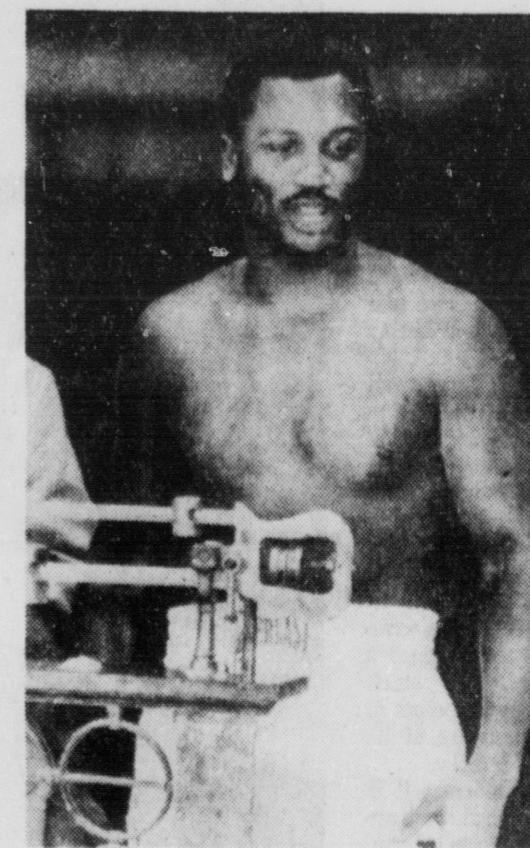

For sheer ability, drama and excitement, both inside the ring and out, the son of Super Fight I must rate a poor second to the original but a sellout throng of 20,000 "beautiful people" contributing to a $1 million "live" gate will be on hand at Madison Square Garden for the event.

Ali and Frazier have been guaranteed $850,000 each against 32 1/2 percent of all rights, including theater television. The bout will be shown on theater TV in some 50 countries with approximately 1.8 million seats available in U.S. and Canadian theaters. With the promoters expecting to gross between $17 million and $18 million for the TV rights, Ali and Frazier stand to collect about $2.5 million apiece.

It's only one month shy of 10 years since Ali, then known as Cassius Clay, took the heavyweight title from the late Sonny Liston at Miami. At 32, Ali is more than a step slower than he was during his prime but the oddsmakers have made him an 8-5 favorite to avenge the loss he suffered to Frazier via a 15-round unanimous decision on March 8, 1971.

At yesterday's televised weigh-in, in which precautions were taken that the two fighters would not meet face-to-face, an unusually subdued Ali scaled 212 pounds, three less than he weighed for Super Fight I. Frazier, two years younger than his opponent, tipped the scales at 209, 3 1/2 pounds more than three years ago but more importantly, five less than one year ago when, admittedly flabby and out of shape, he was knocked out in the second round by Foreman in Kingston, Jamaica.

Ali and Frazier were kept apart and security at the weigh-in was super tight to prevent any reoccurrence of last week's impromptu "wrestling" match heavyweight bout tonight. The two heavyweight former champions have not met since the "Fight of the Century" three years ago, when Frazier won a 15-round decision.

boasted. "Look at my weight. I'm exactly what I said I would be. This will be no contest. I'm gonna be so fast in the first round that those people who bet on Frazier will have time to change their bets. I won't predict how it'll end, but I'm not gonna make the mistakes of the first fight. I'm gonna dance, dance, dance."

Frazier, when asked if he would win by a knockout or decision, refused to make a prediction except to say, "I'll be around for the 12 rounds. I ain't going any place."

"Joe's nervous, flighty, fidgety, I'm the stronger man," Ali

Marin Gymnasts Dominate Meet

NAPA — Girl high school gymnasts from Marin utterly dominated the Section IV compulsory meet here Saturday, winning 15 of a possible 16 events and crowning all four all-around champions.

The other all-around titlists were Kathy Mouille of San Marin in intermediate school with 27.20, Susan Clayworth of San Domenico in beginner with 27.60, and Denise DeSousa of San Marin in novice with 23.10.

MARIN SCHEDULESurvival Battle In Basketball

Redwood and Drake high schools, facing premature extinction in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race, will struggle for survival tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. at Redwood.

The rest of the schedule calls for San Marin at San Rafael, 4 p.m., Terra Linda at Tamalpais, 4 p.m., and Marin Catholic at Novato, 7 p.m.

Drake and Redwood would really rather be trying to do something to catch San Rafael, rapidly leaving the field behind with 6-0 league record. The schedule dictates otherwise, however.

Redwood is second at 5-1 and defending champion Drake third at 4-2, which means San Rafael's fans will be sitting — vicariously, at least — in the Drake section of the stands. If the Pirates win, San Rafael will be two games up on everybody at the season's halfway point, with most crucial second-half games at home, provided the Bulldogs beat San Marin.

Redwood rolled to an impressive 96-60 victory over Terra Linda Friday night, playing everybody and getting an awesome performance from 6-foot-7 Darrell Elder — 22 points and 21 rebounds in just a bit more than half the game.

Drake, on the other hand, was upset by Marin Catholic Friday night, 68-62 — and in distressing fashion. Without benefit of luck or any one player's super night, the Wildcats just went out and beat the Pirates.

Drake got fine scoring from center Dan Trimble, with 25 points, but coach Pete Hayward complained about his team taking bad shots and not hitting the boards. Drake is small, but Marin Catholic is no larger and outrebounded the Pirates by 16 — a disturbing thought, considering Drake will have to cope with Elder and several tall accomplices.

San Rafael, which has held five of its six opponents below 50 points and gave the sixth only 51, will be trying to wrap its defensive tentacles around a San Marin team (1-5) which could manage only 23 points in the first three quarters of its loss to Tamalpais Friday.

Tam (2-4) is convinced it is better than its record, and appeared so against San Marin. The Indians penetrated well and controlled the boards against the Mustangs, and intend to do the same against a Terra Linda squad (1-5) which is even smaller than San Marin, and which was shredded for 96 points by Redwood.

Marin Catholic (3-3), a team of juniors and sophomores, may have given itself a generous stoking of self-confidence with its upset of Drake. If so, it would be bad news for Novato (2-4), which is bound to be discouraged after its two-game win streak was scissored by San Rafael Friday.

SONOMA SLATECossack Quintet, La Verne Tonight

After a week's respite, the Sonoma State College Cossacks basketball team will return to action tonight at 8 o'clock with a homestand-ending game against La Verne College.

The Cossacks, 9-6 overall, will be shooting for their 20th consecutive home victory over a La Verne squad which has managed just three wins this season.

The game will mark the first meeting between Cossack coach Bill Trumbo and La Verne mentor Art Bias, who was Trumbo's junior varsity coach at Chapman College.

In the preliminary game to-night at 6, the Cossack junior varsity cagers will put their 10-2 record on the line against the University of California Medical School of San Francisco.

This weekend, Sonoma will resume Far Western Conference play on the road at San Francisco and Hayward State colleges. The Cossacks (4-0) hold a two and one-half game edge over University of California, Davis, in their bid for a second straight conference championship.

Sprinter Williams Breaks U.S. Record

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Steve Williams of Liverpool, Ohio, broke the American indoor record for 300 meters and equalled the 100-meter dash mark at Idaho State University's track and field meet.

The 20-year-old ISU junior ran 300 meters Saturday in 34.1 seconds. His 10.7 clocking for 100 meters matched the U.S. indoor record for the distance.

BASKETBALLUCLA Has Revenge; Oregon 1st

Betcha' can't name the team leading the Pacific Eight basketball team race today.

Even though UCLA probably regained the number one spot among the nation's college cage powers by thumping Notre Dame 94-75 Saturday night, Oregon leads the Pac-8 with a 5-0 record after taking Oregon State 67-61 Saturday afternoon in a wild contest that saw 57 fouls called, including two technicals on the Duck bench.

Oregon is no UCLA, but it is no fluke, either. Stu Jackson's three-point play with 26 seconds to go iced the Ducks' 11th win against five setbacks. Soph sensation Ron Lee led the Ducks with 20 points.

UCLA, which by the way is 4-0 in the Pac-8, led a great night for Coast quintets with 106-71.

The 24 pros were divided into two 12-man groups. The top three in each group will enter the finals next month to compete against six semifinalists from last August's competition. The final victory purse totals $12,000.

Also from the baseball world are Pete Rose, Jim Palmer, Reggie Jackson and Bobby Bonds. Jimmy Connors and Rod Laver will shelve their tennis rackets to join the play.

USC, 11th rated going into Saturday's action, might crack the top 10 with its 70-60 win at Fordham as Gus Williams led Troy with 16.

And ninth-rated Long Beach State was awesome in a 106-71 win over Northern Illinois as muscular Leonard Grayhoop led 10 of 14 shots, and 22 points, while Fresno State ran its record to 12-3 with a 77-66 victory over Denver. Brilliant Bulldog forward Charles Bailey meshed 23 in that one.

Only Nevada Las Vegas sounded a clunker for Coast cage filberts as the Rebels were upset by old nemesis Houston 75-72. Ricky Sober registered 19 for Vegas, which saw its hope for national recognition dashed and its record skid to 12-4.

The Pac-8 got two wins as Washington was too tall for Seattle in a surprisingly easy 88-64 affair and Rickie Hawthorne hit the jumper at the buzzer to give Cal the 62-60 nod over San Jose State.

The Pac-8 gets back to fraternal action this weekend with Cal at Stanford Friday while Oregon meets Oregon State in a Portland game that doesn't count in the standings. It's Washington State-Washington in the Saturday afternoon tilt then USC is at UCLA Saturday night.

GORDON F. JOSELOFF
Questionnaires taken

Journalist's Actions Hit By Reds

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has protested to the U.S. embassy against the behavior of an American journalist in meeting Soviet Jewish activists and warned he may be expelled, an embassy official said yesterday.

The newsman, Gordon F. Joseloff of United Press International, was stopped by secret police on a Moscow street Wednesday after interviewing a group of Jews who have been trying unsuccessfully to emigrate to Israel. The police seized written replies to questions Joseloff had asked the activists and warned him not to write about the incident.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs called in Joseloff on Thursday and accused him of "instigatory and provocative actions." On Saturday it called in Mark J. Garrison, political counselor at the American Embassy.

In an oral statement read to Garrison, the ministry said it was "authorized to protest to the embassy of the U.S.A. in connection with the provocative behavior of the American journalist and reserves the right in future, if he does not change his behavior, to take measures against him including expulsion."

The statement said "competent organs" had taken from Joseloff 11 completed questionnaires which it alleged he had previously handed out. It said the questionnaires "irrefutably testify to the provocative and hostile intentions of this journalist and the persons behind him."

The statement called Joseloff's activities "interference in the internal affairs of the USSR and contrary to the process of normalization of relations between our countries."

Joseloff denied the accusations.

Garrison told the foreign ministry the embassy considered the police action "an unwarranted interference with an American journalist in legitimate pursuit of his duties."

The ministry statement followed three days of attempts by American embassy officials to deliver a U.S. protest over the incident. An embassy spokesman said foreign ministry officials said they were too busy to see anyone from the embassy.

Enlisted Naval Aviator Retires

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Pacific Fleet's last enlisted naval aviator, Kenneth Milburn, retired today after 32 years.

Milburn's retirement leaves Robert K. Jones, stationed in Rota, Spain, as the only enlisted aviator in the U.S. Navy.

Former Legislator Begins Term In Jail

NORTH BEND, Wash. (UPI) — Two girls were buried by an avalanche that roared down 6,200 foot Chair Peak Sunday. Another snowslide forced more than 60 rescue workers out of the area.

The rescue operations were conducted throughout last night under lights and flares but there appeared to be little hope for Jean D. Kisman, 10, Seattle, and Linda D. Angell, 13, Renton, Wash.

Rescuers said the snow was very wet and heavy and it was unlikely there were any air holes.

He immediately walked from the third floor office, escorted

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — Former Rep. John W. Dowdy, D-Tex., a "sick man," entered the Springfield Medical Center for Federal Prisoners today to serve a six-month term for perjury.

Dowdy, 62, pale and thin, surrendered to the U. S. marshal's office at the federal building in downtown Springfield shortly before 9 a. m., accompanied by his wife and another man and a woman.

He immediately walked from the third floor office, escorted by Marshal Jim Kitchell, to the marshal's personal car for a five-mile drive through a mixture of light rain and snow.

"He appeared to be in good spirits," Kitchell said of the gray-haired former congressman.

Dowdy was convicted in 1971 on eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury for accepting a $25,000 bribe in return for trying to block a Justice Department investigation of a Baltimore home improvement firm.

Doughnut Record Set By Trucker

CARSON (UPI) — After an eight-year stretch with the Marines and assortments as a truckdriver, Jerry Wright is able to eat just about anything.

During the weekend the 35-year-old Los Angeles area man devoured 28 doughnuts in 15 minutes and surpassed the existing British record of 20 listed in the Guinness Book of Records.

Wright smiled at the 600 other groaning contestants and announced that he felt fine. He said he occasionally eats 18 doughnuts at a sitting. "Every once in a while," he said, "I just get the urge for doughnuts."
